(1) Based on closing prices.

(2) Distribution rate is based on the current annualized distribution rate divided by the market price on the last business day of the quarter.

(3) The SEC yield is calculated by dividing annualized net investment income per share during a 30-day period by the maximum offering price per share as of the close of that period. SEC yield reflects the rate at which the fund is earning income on its current portfolio of securities. Since certain distributions received by the funds from closed-end fund investments (CEFs) may consist of dividend income, return of capital and capital gains, and the character of these distributions cannot be determined until after the end of the year, the SEC yield has been adjusted for the funds that invest significantly in CEFs based on estimates of return of capital and capital gains.

(4) Most recently declared monthly distribution. As portfolio and market conditions change, future distributions may also change. Distributions are subject to recharacterization for tax purposes after the end of the fiscal year. The Fund is currently paying distributions in excess of its net investment income, which may result in a return of capital. Absent this, the yield would have been lower. See reverse side for additional information.

Underlying closed-end funds in which the Fund invests have additional fees, may utilize leverage, may not correlate to an intended index and may trade at a discount to their net asset values.

To the extent the Fund invests a portion of its assets in other investment companies, including ETFs, those assets will be subject to the risks of the investment companies' portfolio securities, and shareholders will pay additional expenses.

Please note that these estimates may change substantially by year-end due to portfolio activity and tax recharacterizations, and shareholders will be notified following year-end regarding the final composition of all distributions via Form 1099-DIV.

Percentages may differ from data in the Fund's financial statements due to the effect of fair value pricing of foreign securities. The fund implements fair value pricing when the daily change in a specific U.S. market index exceeds a predetermined percentage. In the event fair value pricing is implemented on the first day of the period, the fund's return may diverge from the performance of its benchmark, which is not fair valued. This divergence is usually reduced on the day following the implementation of fair value pricing by the fund, as the value of the securities in the index that are held by the fund typically move closer to the fund's fair valued price when the market reopens.
